NO RING RULE FOR TEACHERS.

Lecturer Marsden Indorses "The Evening World's" School Bill Fight

HIS ANSWER TO THE SEVENTY.

Fallacies in That Body's Argument for the Compromise Measure.

8000 SHOWING OF OUR SCHOOLS

Iniquitous Provisions Which Make Preceptors Subject to Arbitrary Measures.

Sidney Marsden, the well known lecturer, has sent the following communi-cation to "The Evening World," which to battling on behalf of the teachers against the Compromise School bill. The letter is in answer to the subcommittee of the Committee of LXX., which body made reply to the resolutions

The attempt on the part of the subcommittee of the Committee of Seventy the resolutions recently named by the teachers of this city is bluff, to bolster up the 'Crazy-Quilt' hollow are their arguments that they fall with a dull thud into oblivion without making the least impression upon those who are familiar with the ol system of this city, and but add strength to the oft repeated assertion subject of which they are talking.

Teachers Oppose It.

"In the first paragraph of the circular which they have strewn broadcast, they say 'there is good reason to believe that many of the teachers strongly fapayers just as much as you are, for no part of this community stands on acount of the justners of our laws above the rest, and they certainly do object to an increased outlay of 25,000. In another rest, and they certainly do object to an increased outlaw of 285,000. In another year if the superintendents are to assume the 'new and strange power' of which the teachers speak—to examine applicants for positions, to license them, to practically appoint them, to transfer, remove, promote or demote them, to attend to all the elerical work in their districts, to hear complaints, to supervise and direct each teacher and each principal in each school, prevare courses of study, arrange classes: if, in short, twenty men are to assume all such duties which take 10 trustees and over 20 principals to attend to now—instead of requiring, as you state, eleven addirequiring, as you state, eleven addi-tional superintendents, you will need fifty each at a cost of $5.00 a year.

Liberal Methods Necessary.

"As to the statement that superintend-cuts elsewhere have these powers, an answer that would preclude perhaps the necessity of further argument upon that point, would be simply to state that in no other city of the country are the conditions the same as they are in New York to-day. What will work well for the to van of Lambhurst, or even the city of Checimes? — not do for the metropolis of New York with the immensity of the system. And yet your system has been tried in Minneapolis, and we are informed that the teachers of that city, who are not of a particular set or creed, are having the saine kind of experience as Dante had on his famous journey.

"You wind up your second specification by saying that the trustees are men with little or 10 knowledge of the teachers wo.k."

"Gentlemen, have you ever heard of that pretty little adage which begins with 'People in glass houses' "For fity-three years the trustees have been a feature of the system. Whatever reputation the schools of this city have has been achieved through the unselfish aid of the trustees, upon whom you say the teachers have been dependent for position and advancement."

"And it would be well to remark here that the teachers are safer from all sources of evil in the hands of the trustees. Tepresentative of every commercial interest in this city, than they would be in those of the division superintendent, to whom the position affords a living, and who would be at the beck and call, therefore, of any commissioner.

"While the teachers do not object at while the teachers do not object at any time to re-examinations in the lines of their work, they do object to the power which one commissioner may exercise in ordering the re-examination of any teacher whom he for some reason or other does not favor.

Arbitrary Power In Unjust.

Arbitrary Power Is Unjust.

"No one man in a democratic community should be accorded power which he may arbitrarily use against the interest of the community at large. To compel a teacher who has done good work for twenty years perhaps, sending out into the world those specimens he for good citizenship which surround us to undergo a technical examination, to undergo a technical examination, to undergo on the instant a re-examination in the Code of Civil Procedure, an undertaking which you, no doubt, did creditably when you applied for admission to the Bar, but the knowledge of which, as years of practice proceed, becomes, as some of the most noted lawyers in the city have declared, dim and vague.

"The teachers relierate that this bill places in the hands of the Superintendent the power to ruin forever, by an arbitrary suspension, the personal character of any teacher against whom private malice or public rumor may breathe the breath of scandal."

"For if a teacher be suspended on complaint, as the 'Crasy-Quilt' bill vaguely alleges, for immorality, without having been granted a hearing, and should prove herself innocent and be restored to her former position, she would still be an object of scorn, unjustly, of course, by those against whom the shafts of suspicion have never been directed, and her influence in her sphere would be gone forever.

"If it is to protect but one woman of the 4.000 who are interested, the teachers of this city cannot allow that provision of the bill to stand.

"SIDNEY MARSDEN."

ANOTHER BIG MASS MEETING.

Resolutions Adopted Denouncing the Compromise Bill.

The citizens of the Twepty-third Ward have taken the initiative in the matter of holding mass-meetings throughout the city to protest against the passage of the Compromise School bill, by as-weeks the average daily attendance at the circus has exceeded the enormous number of 12,000 or 12,000 for each week, and hy next Saturday, the last day here the great total will far exceed 200,000 men, women and children who will have visited the ever popular exhibition.

The great b islness transacted this Spring is attributed solely to the novelty of the show as an entirety, and the sterling merit of its equestrian, aerial and general performances; to the water carniva, the Ethnelogical Congress of strang people and other features which were never seen before.

Under canvags in Brooklyn Mr. Balley says they should be even a larger business, as the scating capacity will be almost three times as great as Madison Square Garden.

without means. They said they were going to New York to seek charity, and in the event of failure, would apply for admission to the almshouse.

Mrs. Underhill's husband was District-Attorney of Kings County in 1893. He was a prominent lawyer, and at one time was associated with ex-Judge G. G. Reynolds. Upon his death Mr. Underhill left $100.000 to his wife.

Mrs. Underhill lived in a fine house on Clinton avenue, and was a society leader thirty years ago. After her husbands death she left Brooklyn. She married again and was divorced from her second husband. By husiness reverses Mrs. Underhill lost all her money. The little personal property she saved from her wrecked fortune was lost in the Hotel Regent fire.

Bince the fire Mrs. Underhill and her sister have been wandering from place to place seeking shelter. They are both over fifty years old. For the past two weeks the sisters have been cared for at the Concord street home, but as the rules would not permit remaining after yesterday, they were forced to leave this morning.

A gentleman called at the Home this morning, who had known Mrs. Underhill in her youth, to offer assistance, but the old women had gone. The matron of the Home did not know where they went in New York.

WASHINGTON, April 22.- The wedding of Hon. George Nathaniel Curson, M. P., and Miss Mary Letter was celebrated at St. John's Episcopal Church

The wedding has been long anticl nated, as it marked another internation al union, Mr. Curzon being a Conserva tive Member of the House of Commons. der the Salisbury Ministry, and the successor to his father's title of Lord Scarsdale, while Miss Leiter has been counted among the beauties of the national capital, and is a typical American girl.

Long before the hour for the ceremony a curious crowd surrounded St. John's Church, which is on Lafayette Square, immediately fronting the White House, of them found Policeman Haggerty and took him to the house.

King had broken chairs, smashed strates and broken the stove. He had overturned the coffin and the body of his dead daughter was lying on the floor.

Immediately fronting the White House, Admission to the Ettle edifice was restricted to those holding cards, but the many outside were anxious to get a glimpse of the interior or of the bridal hour. party as it passed from the carriages.

of Canal street.

At the same time John Geese, another fireman, of the vessel, was removed to the Hudson street House of Para, and for a time there threatened to be a panic. No accidents occurred, however, although the crush resulted in many torn and disheveled garments.

The interior of the church was literally transformed into a garden for the occapitation.

seat in the forward part of the church, near the pews reserved for the immediate relatives.

The President did not appear, as it is an unwritten law that the Executive does not attend private social events.

The diplomatic corps was strongly represented. Special interest attached to the presence of Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, accompanied by Lady Pauncefote and the extensive suite of the British Embassy, as they were representative of the nationality of the bridegroom.

The wedding party arrived shortly before noon and moved up the main aisle to the chancel, where Bishop Talbot and Rev. Dr. Mackay Smith officiated. The bride was on the arm of her father.

The bridesmalds, Misses Nannie and Daisy Leiter, Sisters of the oride, wore pink tulle gowns, with large pink mull hats, and carried large bouquets of pink roses. The bridegroom and Mir. The bridesmalds of the bridegroom's best man, Mr. Joseph Leiter and Mr. Frank Curzon made up the rest of the party.

The wedding gown of the bride was of white sait, with full train of satin, no trimming on the skirt, the wains trimmed with /are point lace worn by the bride's grandmother, Miss Nancy Fish. The bride wore the dieses, was trimmed with rose point lace worn by the bride's grandmother, Miss Nancy Fish. The bride wore the diamond brooch given her by the bridegroom.

Marie Lloyd Wants to Recover $60 from Koster & Blat.

In a suit brought by Joseph White, as ssignee of Marie Lloyd, the dancer, it the Supreme Court, a question has been raised as to whether Koster & Itial had theatrical license in 1893, while manage ing a theatre and concert hall in Twen ing a theatre and concert hall in Twenty-third street.

Miss Lloyd made a contract with Koster & Bial in London in February, 1803, to appear at their theatre here for a period of six weeks. Subsequently Miss Lloyd broke her contract, and Koster & Bial obtained judgment against her for $600 damages. Miss Lloyd paid the judgment, but later claimed the money was wrongfully paid, for the reason that Koster & Bial did not have a city theatrical license at the time they engaged her. She assatshed her calaim to White, who brought suit.

Koster & Bial deny Miss Lloyd's allegations as to their license, and set un that White is not the real party in interest.
